Looking for Incredible Value?
You've Just Found It!

By Edward Weiss

Published by Quiescence Music

Learn From an Experienced Teacher
In the Comfort of Home, for One Low Price!

Dear Hopeful Student,

Do you know what it costs to learn piano these days? In the United States, the average hourly rate for the majority of piano teachers falls somewhere between $30-$60 per hour… and that's the low end.

But thanks to the Internet, you can still get the teacher and great instruction, but at a fraction of the cost. And during these tough economic times, it makes sense!

Now you may be wondering, that sounds good but how does it actually work? Good question.

Thanks to sites like YouTube, you can actually see the teacher teach. This is an amazing advance and one you can take full advantage of. For example, a teacher can give a complete lesson illustrating techniques on video. In addition, he or she can write down what you need to learn - which is exactly what I do.

Everything you need to create your own beautiful New Age piano music is right here on this website. Forget costly $30-$60 an hour lessons and trips to see a teacher. You get it ALL for one low price!

This is not your typical piano lesson routine. On the contrary, the focus is not on note-reading or learning how to play other peoples music. The focus is on YOU and your own unique voice on the piano! Let me help you bring it out.

You'll also receive a special email address where you can ask me questions about anything at anytime! Here in this online course you will:

• Discover your power to create
• Experience the joy of spontaneous expression
• Uncover your own original style of playing piano!
• Face and break through creative blocks
• Feel the live connection between you and your music

In short, learning how to play piano in the New Age style will give you pleasure to last your whole life! Get started now at http://www.quiescencemusic.com/#offer

My warmest regards,

Edward Weiss

Edward Weiss